The readings today contain blessings. As we celebrated the end of 2022 last night and begin the celebration of the start of 2023 today, it seems appropriate to do so by giving thanks to God for all the ways He has cared for us, provided for us, loved us, blessed us, and in every way revealed how much He truly treasures us. What a blessing it is to really know God and to have our life be based on a personal relationship with the God of the universe.

Regardless of our individual routine, our ability to begin our day offering ourselves to our Lord is such a blessing. How shallow life would be if lived focused on our self or what we could accumulate. Life in Community has transformed the essence of who we are, what we are called to, and how we respond to God's call. We are blessed and privileged to have a new opportunity, not only every year but every day when we pause and acknowledge the God of the universe who is there for us, each and every morning.

My exhortation for today is that we simply treasure the day. Every day is a gift. Every breath and heartbeat are gifts. Let us acknowledge the Father of life and celebrate the day by giving it back to Him and letting Him reveal His will and not miss any opportunity to respond in love.

"The LORD bless you and keep you! The LORD let his face shine upon you, and be gracious to you! The LORD look upon you kindly and give you peace!"

God Bless,

David
